Vol. 114 No. 69 | Cameron, Milam County, Texas Thursday November 8, 1973 | 12 Pages Today

Oil Well Opening New Field

By Lloyd Albertson

Milam County gained a new oil-well last week which, according to available information, not only has tapped a new producing zone but also has opened another oil field in the county.

The new discovery is the No. 1 Batte, and was drilled by United Production Company of Houston. Location is approximately three miles northeast of Milano and in the Gilliland Survey on a lease owned by Mrs. Willie Lorene Batte and Lelia Lee Batte Hickman. It also is between three and four miles north of production in the Cherokee - Navarro Field.

The No. 1 Batte was drilled to a little below 2,700 feet. Electric log was run on the wildcat on October 21; sidewall cores also were taken on that date. Both tests showed approximately 20 feet of oil saturation in the Navarro "C" sand between 2,675 and 2,704 feet -- an unusually thick saturation for any formation in Milam County.

PAY FOUND

This is the first time pay is believed to have been found in the Navarro "C" sand in the county. The Navarro has four zones -- A, B, C and D -- with D sometimes called the Nacatoch, a gas bearing formation. Heretofore production has come mainly from the Navarro "B" zone, found in both the Cherokee - Navarro and the Milbur Fields.

Potential test has not yet been run on the No. 1 Batte, or has not been reported, so its production is not known. It is expected, however, to be an excellent producer.

United Production Company has moved its rig from the No. 1 Batte to a new location; at last report it had operations under way to drill a second wildcat, called its No. 2 Batte. Drillsite for the No. 2 is located 952 feet north of the No. 1 Batte. It is permitted to 3,500 feet, and reportedly plans are for Union Production's drilling crew to drill it to total depth and test both the Navarro "C" and Nacatoch formations.

DRILLING CAMPAIGN

The No. 1 and No. 2 Batte are the start of a large scale drilling campaign by United Production on a 7,200 acre lease block which Wayne C. Pemberton, Houston oil and lease man, has assembled in the area and turned over to the company for development. United Production Company reportedly has given Pemberton a contract that it will drill a minimum of ten wells a year on the lease block over a four year period. Many of the wildcats will have the Navarro "C" zone as their objective, but others will be drilled possibly to 6,000 feet in search of the Austin Chalk and Edwards Lime, expected to be encountered around that depth in that area. One or two tests may be drilled deeper than 6,000 feet.

The company has four drilling rigs, but one of the problems it may face in the coming year will be that of obtaining pipe for its operations.

NEW OPERATOR

United Production is a new operator in the Milam oil patch. It has offices at 5005 Woodway Drive in Houston. E. J. Fourticq is president and William M. Wiseman is vice president of the company.

There is a possibility it may open an office in Cameron sometime in the future.

OPENS NEW FIELD

The No. 1 Batte is the discovery well and has opened a new oil field in Milam County. It will be named the Pemberton - Navarro C. Field. Wayne Pemberton has been interested in that area for some time and has done considerable leasing there. He said he appreciates the selection of the new field's name very much as he wanted it named Pemberton in memory of his son, Donald, who died in May, 1961.

The new field is the third oil field to be opened in the county in the last half dozen years. The Milbur Field was brought in about six years ago. The Cherokee Navarro is about four years old. This gives Milam County the distinction of reversing the usual trend in oil producing counties, which is for old fields to be depleted and no new ones discovered.

BRAIN DRAIN . . . Part II

They used to talk about the educated losses of the Midwest to the seaboards of East and West during the past 20 years of this country's development.

They used to talk about the European "brain drain" in the post-World War II years when educated Europeans joined the surge of growth in technocrat America.

They could also have talked of the drain from the Central Texas area to North and South Texas, staging areas for further reach to East and West Coasts.

But technology is coming back to non-metro America, non-metro Central Texas in industry, agriculture. And in lesser degree a place for educated input is resulting.

Money has been buying "brains." And that is a good part of this country's problem, its political limbo.

"Brains" are less political and more idealistic, like the young people coming out of the universities and colleges.

Contrary to campus myth, industrial prowess and bureaucratic legend, not all of the "brains" are campused, indistrialized or bureaucratized.

There are more than a few minds independent even of institutions caught up in feeding our technocracy.

And whatever that number, those are the ones countering movements of numbers with hope for movements of sense.

Where "brain drain" here in Texas may have meant movement, it may now mean the process of being used and appreciated.

Council To Study Helping Care Center

The city council has authorized Mayor Gene Blake to investigate the possibility of helping Cameron Day Care Center with some of the city's revenue sharing funds.

During a discussion of the center at a Tuesday meeting, Mayor Blake emphasized that the federal government wants cities to help minority groups with revenue sharing funds, and not just spend the money on capital improvements, such as new equipment for the city.

The center operates for working mothers and those mothers who are in job training and whose income is below a certain level.

In other business council:

Voted to buy a new gravel truck and opened bids on a new garbage truck to be purchased from PakMor Co.'
Co.;

Authorized the city secretary to advertise for bids on two mowers for use in the parks and cemetery;

Adjusted the fire department and police budgets to allow for a raise for the firetruck driver and police dispatchers;

Tabled for more information a request for a special use permit for a mobile home at 1712 N. Travis;

Agreed to installing a new street light between Second and Third Streets at Adams.

Council also discussed the matter of city services being delayed or put off since the city is working on streets and sidewalks in the urban renewal area. Councilman Bob Clark said a contractor should be hired for the streets so that city services may be kept on schedule.

Councilmen moved to secure bids on a front end loader for the city to be used in the street work.

She was taken to St. Edward Hospital suffering second and third degree burns over 70 percent of her body.

Mrs. Triggs is better known as "Miss Bess."

Grand Jury Indicts Two Men

A Milam County grand jury met Friday and indicted two men on three counts Billy Ray Dotsey was indicted for felony theft and burglary and Riley W. Whittington was indicted for murder with malice.

Members of the jury are:

Mrs. Wayne Jordan, J. H. Pritchard, Donie R. Heine, Arthur Clayton, D. C. Drummond, J. L. Banks, Frankie M. McDonald, Albert Timmerman Sr., Mrs. W. T. Scurlock Jr., Leonard Pelzel, Alfred Rogers, and Lee Roy Folschinsky.

Work Continues On City Streets

Work on the city streets continues this week with grades being raised on some streets and preparation going forward to lay more storm drainage pipe in one section of town.

A. W. McCullin, urban renewal executive director, said that paving of some streets north of Main Street may be a "Christmas present" to merchants and residents.

He explained that with a new type of asphalt streets can be paved in temperatures above 47 degrees, meaning that cool weather will not delay paving.

As grades are raised with additional fill, the streets will be blocked off and graded and rolled before paving starts, McCullin said.

Middle East 'Oil War' Continues

By Alexander Chancellor

PARIS

Reuter -- The military war against Israel may have ended, but the Arab "oil war" against Israel's friends continues and and is biting more deeply every day into the economics of western industrial countries.

Meeting in Paris, western countries and Japan decided that there was still no need for them to take joint action to face the threat of an energy crisis.

Although the Arab oil-producing states have already made substantial production cuts and have promised to go on doing so until Israel has withdrawn from its occupied Arab territories, the consumer states still maintain that there is no emergency situation.

They point to the fact that they have large stocks of refined petroleum products -- in most cases, more than two month's supply -- and that enough crude oil is on its way by sea to keep them going for another month.

But even if there is no serious threat to oil supplies until after Christmas, the situation looks increasingly bleak.

According to the usually reliable Middle East economic survey, Arab oil production has already dropped by 4.1 million barrels a day, creating a 12 per cent shortfall in world supplies.

And following Saudi Arabia's decision last weekend to add a boycott of Holland to the measures it has already taken, total West European oil imports could be down by some 20 per cent, industry sources said.

This is despite the fact that the Arab measures are officially aimed only at the United States and other supporters of Israel, among whom only Holland has so far been identified by the Arab counties.

But the general world energy shortage, and the fact that Western Europe and Japan depend on the Middle East for the greater part of their oil supplies, mean that they are likely to be the most severely hit.

The United States gets only about five per cent of its oil needs from the middle East region.

Because of the delicacy of the political situation and fears that any rash response could goad the Arabs into even more drastic action, the consumer countries are adopting an attitude of extreme caution.

At a meeting of the oil committee of the 24-nation Organication for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) here, they avoided taking any stand which could be seen as the creation of a common front against the Arabs.

They also decided it was not yet necessary to activate arrangements under which West European countries agree to pool their oil supplies and ration them out among themselves.

But resort to such an emergency measure may not be far off. A shortfall of 20 to 30 per cent in European oil supplies has been privately indicated by some European officials as the point at which action could be necessary.

District Scout Exec Moving To Port Arthur

Ron Derry, Tejas District Scout Executive since 1968, has been named as the new Eagle District Scout Executive of the Three Rivers Council in Port Arthur effective November 15. No replacement here has been named.

Derry, an Illinois native, graduated from Southern Illinois University with a bachelor's degree in history in 1967. After a short stay with Dow Chemical in Freeport, he took over the Tejas District position.

During his stay here, Derry has initiated one new Boy Scout Troop and increased participation of Milam, Rogertson and Falls County youngsters from 500 to 800 and has been instrumental in the organization of many district scouting activities.

In his new post, he will be in direction of about 1,900 boys. "Port Arthur is an extremely active community for Scouting and has been one of the United Fund campaign's leading Texas communities," he said. Port Arthur houses two of the nation's leading petroleum companies, Gulf and Texaco.

"I genuinely appreciate the tremendous volunteer support that has been given by the residents of Tejas District. The time, effort and money that have been given here by the townspeople in every community have made Scouting the success it's been for the past five years. Sometimes you can do without the Scout executive, but you never do without volunteers in the program."

He and his wife, Donna, have two daughters, Tammy, 6, and Cathy, 5.

One-Car Mishaps Injure Two Men

Highway patrolmen investigated two one-car accidents this weekend, both on Farm Road 2269 and both resulting in injuries to the drivers.

Patrolman Larry Hester of Rockdale investigated one of the accidents at 10 p.m. Friday night, when Bobby Scott of Cameron was involved in a one-car accident. He was taken to St. Edward Hospital.

Jerry Randall of Rockdale investigated another one-car accident at 1:45 a.m. Monday involving Michael Cavil of Cameron. He is in St. Edward Hospital suffering bruises.

County Votes With State In Defeating No. 1

Milam County went along with the rest of the state in defeating proposed Amendment No. 1, granting a pay raise for legislators by a vote of 685 to 321, in Tuesday's general election.

A total of 1,006 voters went to county polls to vote in the election.

Amendment 2, homestead protection for single adults, drew 788 votes for, and 215 against. Also passing was Amendment No. 3, homestead exemption for single adults.

Voters turned down Amendment 4, rules to create conservation districts by a vote of 452 to 500. Amendment 5, coastal counties sea wall bonds passed by a vote of 557 to 410. This amendment would not affect inland counties.

No. 6, district courts jurisdiction received 429 votes for and 516 against. Voters however passed No. 7, which provides for veterans land fund increases by a vote of 557 to 416.

Voters turned down No. 8, which would have broadened ad valorem tax, by a vote of 304 to 663. And No. 9 which exempts water districts from ad valorem taxes passed by a vote of 615 to 377.

Statewide, Amendments 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, and 9 passed with most of the state's counties reporting.

Voter Indifference...

With a new constitution revision at hand, the amendment election Tuesday on the present constitution seemed ill timed.

The turnout statewide apparently was about 10 percent of the potential electorate, while in Milam County it was about 20 percent.

Amendment 1 proposing annual sessions and a pay boost to $15,000 for legislators went down, along with proposed amendments 6 which grants probate jurisdiction to district courts and 8 which authorizes communities to levy taxes on general obligations.

The pattern of approval and disapproval held in Milam County and the rest of Texas.

Neighboring Bell County had only about a 7 percent turnout, the pattern in most urbanizing areas of Texas.

The issues were non-existant. And the total of the Milam vote suggested older voters and property owners did their duty at the polls while the general public stayed home.

Approved were amendments 2 and 3 on single household homesteads, 4 on notice to create conservation districts, 5 a special okay for a simple majority to decide when Texas Gulf Coast seawalls are built, 7 for an additional $100 million in veterans land bonds and 9 to exempt non-profit water supply corporations from taxation.

The fact that voters defeated the progressive Amendment 1 and routinely approved Amendment 5 suggests the attitude toward change which is needed.

It is ridiculous for the whole state to decide constitutionally how many will allow construction of seawalls on the Texas Gulf. And it is ridiculous for a state with a $5 to $6 billion biennial budget not to allow legislators meet once a year.

Erosion of public confidence in office holders, the result of Watergate and Sharpstown took its toll.

If the new constitution is approved in a year, this voter indifference will be immaterial.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

LWV WINS HOME RULE FOR WASHINGTON, D.C.

Rep. G. E. Studds (Mass.) ". . . Because I believe we must allow the citizens of our Nation's Capital to exercise the basic rights of all citizens in a democracy, I am cosponsoring the home rule bill . . . and I urge my colleagues to oppose any efforts to weaken or kill the bill. . .

"I commend to my colleagues . . . the statement of Mrs. Lucy Wilson Benson, the president of the League of Women Voters of the United States." (Excerpts follow)

The League of Women Voters of the United States strongly urges the House of Representatives to pass the D.C. Home Rule bill.

We have knocked on the Congressional doors, testified before Congressional committees, organised national letter writing campaigns and parades and recently completed a home rule campaign in the communities throughout the fifty states. In short, we have done everything. We are worn out, but we are not going to give up.

Rep. David C. Treen (La.) ". . . There is no question that we in the Congress want good government for the District of Columbia. We also want the citizens of the District of Columbia to control their local affairs to the fullest extent possible. However, any legislation to provide home rule for the District of Columbia must be within the confinement of our Constitution as envisioned by our Founding Fathers. . . . It was their intent that our Nation's Capital was to take a unique position in this country. Washington, D.C. was to be a city belonging to each and every one of us. . .

"This legislation goes beyond what any President, including Johnson and Kennedy, has ever recommended. . .

"Lest us not forget that about 50 percent of the District of Columbia budget is provided through appropriations of national tax revenue by the Congress — tax money that comes out of the pocket of every American. (The bill) does not provide for Presidential veto power to protect the Federal interest. . ."

Industrial Leaders Review Campaign Contribution Law

By Bill Boykin
Texas Press Association

Over 200 leaders of industry and representatives of professions met in the capitol last week to review the new state laws governing campaign contributions, expenditures and lobbying.

Secretary of State Mark White and Attorney General John Hill discussed the major legal changes brought islation of the last Texas legislature.

"We are living in a period of legal transition," the Attorney General told the business and professional men and women. "My office has produced over 200 opinions so far this year -- more than the total last year -- and over 100 opnions are stacked up to be prepared."

White outlined his recent "campaign contributions and expenditures directives" at the meeting sponsored by the Texas Society of Association Executives.

Other speakers reviewed the details of the new lobby law and the sections of the penal code which affect campaigns and lobbying.

"H.B. 2 -- the new lobby law -- is unconstitutional," sated Frank Maloney, Austin attorney. "It violates both the first and fifth amendments to the constitution."

He cited federal cases which supported his opinion on the new Texas lobby law, and other speakers pointed out that several AG opinions are needed in this state to clarify sections of the campaign expenditures law and lobby law.

Political action committees for state business and associations are being formed as a reault of the new laws.

Labor unions must go the PAC route in Texas now also, becuase they are prohibited under the new law from contributing to political campaigns.

Speakers on the program indicated that the Sharpstown scandal and Watergate investigations are going to make office holders, candidates and those who work and contribute to campaigns very wary about future political activities in this state.

Old Philosopher

Dear editor:

According to a public opinion poll I read in a newspaper last week which fell out of my neighbor's mail box and which I put back in the next day -- after all, in these times who pays any attention if mail is a few days late -- at any rate, to start over again, according to this poll 64 per cent of the parents in this country say they would not like to have a son go into politics.

I have been thinking about this and have concluded there are two major reasons why this is so.

(1) Politics is so scandel-ridden, graft-ridden, power-ridden that I can see why a parent wouldn't want to say "Yes, my son is in politics in Washington," any more than he'd want to say "Yes, my son is a dope in New York. "This of course is over-drawn. I know there are honest politicians throughout this country and if we keep investigating and investigating they're bound to show up.

(2) On the other hand, the reason 64 percent of the parents in this country would not want their sons to go into politics may be that they know their kids better than we do and aren't sure they could stand being investigated either. It's just a thought.

To tell the truth, I have about decided that politics is like high school football. Given just ordinary coaching a winning team shows up when a group of good athletes comes along at the same time. They seem to come in waves, like wet years and dry years. You have a winning team a season or two. then you run out of outstanding players and things drop off to a losing streak.

Politics is the same. Right now, I'd say the government has very few outstanding players and as a result we've got a long losing streak.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

Estate Planning Meetings To Be Held In County

By Bill McCutchen

Four Estate Planning Meetings are to be held in November, one in each of the four Commissioners Precincts in Milam County. The Milam County Program Building Committee and the Milam County Farm Bureau are co-sponsoring these meetings as a public service to farmers, ranchers and anyone else interested.

The meetings will not be a series, as the same information will be presented in each. The reason for four meetings in various locations is to reach as many people as possible.

The first meeting will be held in Buckholts at the Buckholts Vocational Agriculture building at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, November 12. The second meeting will be held in Cameron at the Farm Bureau Office, Thursday, November 15 also a 7:30 p.m. The third meeting will be held in Rockdale at the Rockdale State Bank Meeting Room Monday, November 19 at 7:30 p.m. and the final meeting will be held in Thorndale at the Thorndale Vocational Agriculture building Tuesday, November 20 also at 7:30 p.m.

Two Texas Agricultural Extension Service Specialists will be in charge of the program, Eugene M. McElyea and Don Parks. McElyea is a lawyer and has practiced law in Crockett and Houston, Parks is an Economist with experience in taxes and tax management.

Quite a bit of material will be covered in these meetings including why have a will, types of wills, costs and laws involved. Other topics will be who will in herit, tax free gifts, trusts, differences between an executor and an administrator and steps necessary to probating a will, what is included in the gross estate subject to tax and how is the Federal estate tax determined?

You are encouraged to attend the estate planning meeting in your community or the one closest to you. If you have a conflict with that date feel free to attend any of the meetings as this is planned as a public service.

Appreciation Month

Governor Dolph Briscoe has officially proclaimed November as "Food and Fiber Appreciation Month" in Texas. I personally think that it is fitting that we recognize the efforts that farmers, ranchers and agribusiness have made in keeping Americans well fed and clothed.

A lot of people have come to realize that these things should not be taken for granted in the past year and they are beginning to think little more about America's most basic and necessary industry-Agriculture.

In observing Food and Fiber month I would point out that it is very important to everyone that farmers and ranchers must have priorities on fuel, fertilizer and equipment.

If fuel is not available to the American farmer when needed and in the amounts needed the whole world may well be hungry. The same goes for fertilizers. In modern Agriculture farmers would be just as well off going to the field without seed as without adequate fertilizer.

We cannot afford to have a fertilizer scaricity on the American farm either from a fertilizer shortage or pricing fertilizer out of reason.

I fell that all Americans have a big stake in assuring that the farmer and rancher are taken care of first so that the production of food and fiber will be undistrubed.

SCS Notes....

Farmers in the Milam County area who bring additional land into crop production in 1974 are being urged to use sound conservation practices.

Wayne Mann, district conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service at Cameron, said conservation measures not only protect the soil from erosion but also increase production.

Local ASCS County Committees are predicting farmers will bring several thousand acres of former "set-aside" acreage back into crop production in Texas in the next year," "This is considered to be the best and quickest way to check food price increases.

"But it's also a quick way to increase dust storms, sediment pollution, and other erosion problems unless sound conservation measures are installed," Mann pointed out.

"There is a lot of land in our county which can be used for cropland safely if managed properly," Mann said. "Yet there are other soils which are so susceptible to blowing or washing that they should never be used for crop production."

Mann said he hopes farmers will use soil survey information available from his office before putting new land in cultivation.

"Soil surveys have been made on over half the land in Milam County. "These surveys show which soils are best suited for crop production and which soils are most susceptible to erosion. They can also show which soils are most productive."

SCS is giving top priority to helping farmers plan conservation measures on new land brought into cultivation. For further information, contact the local SCS office at Cameron, Texas.

Farmers Union Adopts Six New Resolutions

Milam County Farmers Union annual convention was held Saturday, Nov. 3 in Cameon.

George Dodd was re-elected president, Willie Moraw was elected vice president and Paul Dillon will serve as secretary-treasurer.

The following resolutions were adopted for forwarding to the State Convention to be held Dec. 6-8 in Lubbock.

1. We favor raising our State Legislators' salaries to a realistic level.

2. We feel that if our democracy is to be preserved a public method of campaign financing must be devised that will outlaw huge contributions by individuals and corporations seeking special favors.

3. Every year we are faced with a growing shortage of railroad cars to move grain and other agricultural products. We favor legislation which will help the railroads increase rail car building and establish a national computerized information system to monitor car movements.

4. We ask that the Corps of Engineers in the future advise radio and TV stations, as well as newspapers, of planned releases of water from area lakes that will cause river rises. We urge radio and television news personnel to use such information and also to carry expected flood levels on area rivers following heavy rainfall.

5. Farm program--Recent higher farm commodity prices could prove very temporary. We therefore oppose efforts of Secretary Butz and the Nixon administration to kill off farm programs and urge Congress to continue authority for supply controls and price supports in case they are needed.

6. We urge Texas Farmes Union leadership to study the subject of forward contracting of crops and then to sponsor legislation which would best protect farmers from unethical or financially unsound contract buyers.

Uniform Meat Labeling Program To Be Introduced

CHICAGO

A new uniform meat identity labeling program to reduce shopper confusion at the meat counter has been announced by the National Live Stock and Meat Board. David H. Stroud, Meat Board President, called the new standardized meat identity program "an appropriate voluntary industry response to the consumer's 'right-to know' what she is buying.

Its primary purpose is to reduce the confusing variety of names -- many of which are regional, 'fanciful' or even potentially misleading -- which confront meat shoppers in different sections of the country or even in different stores in the same city."

With the Meat Board spearheading and coordinating the program, an industrywide Meat Identification Standards Committee worked for two years developing the project, which was officially launched in mid-September. The Committee combed through more than 1,000 commonly used names and came up with a master list of about 300.

"There is now one single definitive name for each cut of beef, veal, pork and lamb sold in stores throughout the United States," Mr. Stroud said. "And, once the program gets underway, it will be the same name wherever the product is purchased in the United States. It's expected to be well in gear by the beginning of 1974."

MEAT BOARD home economist Terry Meffley uses Rib Eye steak to demonstrate example of how Uniform Meat Identity Standards Program can reduce confusion at the meat counter. The label illustrates new uniform method of identification, showing first, the species of meat (beef); second, the primal area -- or so-called wholesale cut -- from which the retail cut was derived (rib); and finally, the recommended retail name (eye stead). Thus, the cut will be labeled as a Beef Rib Eye Steak wherever it is sold rather than a Delmonico steak in one place, a boneless rib eye steak some place else, or a fillet, spencer or beauty steak in still other stores across the nation, or even across the street.

He said that, with a few exceptions, the basis for the cut name will be its anatomical location in the carcass. To assist shoppers further, charts showing the carcass, the primal (or wholesale) cuts and the location of each retail cut will be posted in all participating stores. There is also other in-store explanatory material including an informative booklet for customer pick-up. The charts and the booklet provide cookery recommendations for each cut of meat. In addition, retailers are being encouraged to put cooking instructions, along with meat cut identification, on the weight-price labels.

"We see the meat identity program as a project which will help consumers get maximum benefit from their meat dollars and also make maximum use of a greater variety of meat cuts," Stroud noted. "The more they know about where the cut comes from and how to handle it and cook it, the better shoppers they will be.

Bill Due To Curb Child Abuse

State Rep. Buddy Temple of Diboll announced this week his intention to introduce a bill next session of the Texas Legislature to help curb repeated child abuse.

Temple stated that some medical experts are convinced that the single largest cause of injuries and death to children between the time of birth and age 3 was repeated injuries intentionally administered in the home by one or both parents.

Temple's proposal would call for a centrally located, statewide reporting system of suspected child abuse cases.

The Diboll legislator said such a system would allow early discovery of mistreated children.

Temple said that presently medical doctors who have only a slight suspicion of mistreatment were reluctant to report such cases to the Welfare Department or police authorities. And if the cases were reported, the authorities would have very little on which to make a case.

However, a centrally located reporting system to which even slight suspicions of abuse were reported would allow a file to be developed over a period of time. The accumulative file would give the authorities needed proof.

Temple said that such a system was espcially needed since parents guilty of such offenses change from doctor to doctor, preventing any one doctor from reaching a conclusion.

Camp Mabry Ceremony Marks Nat'l Guard Month

Governor Dolph Briscoe stressed the importance of the National Guard as he presented the flag of the 49th Armored Division to its new commander during impressive reactivation ceremonies for the division at Camp Mabry on November 1.

In full military ceremonies at the headquarters of the Texas Guard, Gov. Briscoe presented the colors to Brigadier General James L. Moreland, the division commander, during a review and massing of the division colors.

Gov. Briscoe also redesignated Houston's airborne brigade as the 36th Brigade, perpetuating a number that has become traditional in the Texas Guard.

The ceremony on the Camp Mabry drill field featured a review of the massed colors of the Lone Star Armored Division, its three brigades and 11 maneuver battalions as well as the colors of the battalions belonging to the 36th Airborne Brigade. In all, some 30 units marched during the colorful ceremony as each unit was represented by its own flag, a Texas flag and an American flag.

The Texas Army and Air Guard combined to provide a spectacular flyover. Each of the three types of elicopters from the Army Guard passed in aerial review and were followed by Air Guard T-33s, three KC-97s, each with a flight of different Air Guard fighters escorting the planes. The fighters were F-100s, F-101s and F-102s.

The 49th Division Band played for the ceremony.

Gov. Briscoe, who earlier had declared November as "49th Division Month throughout Texas", was welcomed to Camp Mabry by a 19-gunsalute. The salute was fired by two M-60 tanks, the type which is the division's main line battle tank.

Energy conservation is the one way every American can help ease the nation's energy shortages this winter, a spokesman for the natural gas industry said today.

George H. Lawrence, senior vice president of the American Gas Association, said, "The discovery, development and delivery of virtually all new sources of natural gas and other energy resources will take at least several years. But, it only takes hours or days to find extra energy by not wasting it in the home, factories, and plants, office buildings, or in any facet of our lifestyles."

"Our country no longer has 'energy to burn.'" said Lawrence during an energy briefing for newsmen. "Even when we do get new sources of natural gas and other fuels, we will be wise to continue a conservation ethic in ever walk of life."

Lawrence pointed out, "We have the domestic energy resources to keep our country going and growing far into the future, but we have to break the chain of impediments that prevent natural gas producers from exploring, discovering, and supplying this cleanest of fossil fuels for American consumers."

The National Bureau of Standards says that homeowners can conserve energy and save up to 40% on heating costs this winter. A.G.A. recommends such energy saving steps as:

--keeping appliances in good working order;
--closing fireplace dampers;
--caulking cracks;
--setting thermostats lower at night;
--adding insulation, storm doors and windows; and
--installing weather stripping.

Lawrence also said that development os such supplemental sources as coal gasification, imported liquefied natural gas, and gasification of liquid hydrocarbons could provide substantial amounts of much needed cleaner buring energy, as could continued research to unlock vast supplies in extremely tight geological formations.

Santa Fe Expanding

Construction is nearing completion on a $1.5 million expansion of Santa Fe Railway's trailer-on-flatcar facilities at Houston including new "two-for-one" loading and unloading tracks.

Included are grading, pavement, trackage, fencing, a new agent's office, a trainmen's locker room, additional yard tracks and an improved connection to the Central Industrial Park adjacent to the TOFC facility.

Two new tracks capable of holding 10 flatcars each will be added, doubling to 40 the number of rail cars that can be in unloading position at one time. The expansion will also add 444 trailer parking spots to the 100 already available.

School Bible Vote Opened To Public

Homer Wray Burns of Nashville, Tennessee has opened a post office box so Americans can vote either "Yes" or "No" on whether they want the Bible returned to our schools.

The Bible and history will bear out the fact no nation has stood for long when its moral standards were allowed to fall.

The results of the votes, and if possible the mail itself, will be sent to our representatives in Wahington.

Your vote can be sent to Christian Bible Study, P.O. Box 90530, Nashville, Tennessee, 37209.

Vets Urged To Advise Survivors

The Veterans administration urges veterans who haven't done so to "advise survivors of benfits they're entitled to from the agency in event of your death."

Jack Coker, VA Regional Director, emphasized that "failure to do so could cause undue anguish during times of great emotional stress."

"It's a good idea for veteran and spouse to sit down and openly discuss important family matters, including locations of family documents, which would facilitate filing of claims for VA benefits, he further suggested.

Such documents as military discharge papers, divorce decrees, guardinship or child custody evidence, birth, marriage and death certificates should be kept safe from fire and theft, yet readily accessible.

Other important details include keeping track of GI and commercial insurance policies, "C" numbers from VA correspondence, Social Security numbers and naturalization papers.

Veterans also were advised that in event of death, the deceased" family or close friends should know they can check with veterans service organizations, as well as VA offices, forinformation or other assistance.

Lone Star Gas Reports Earnings

Lone Star Gas Company consolidated earnings for the 12 months ended September 30, 1973, rose to $2.74 per share of common stock, a 15% rise from the $2.38 per share reported for the same period in 1972.

Lone Star president, W. C. McCord, reported that net income for the 12-month period was $40.8 million on revenues of $338.9 million, up 16% over the year earlier period. The gas company executive indicated that profits for the 12 months ended September increased primarily because of excellent heating weather during the winter season, and because of improved results from oil and gas liquids and chemical fertilizer operations.

All revenue categories were higher for the 12-month period, according to McCord, with the exception of plastic products from Lone Star's wholly owned subsidiary, Nipak, Inc. Operating income rose 32% over the same period, but was reduced by higher interest costs associated with borrowings for the 1973 construction and exploration programs.

Let The Buyer Beware

Manhattan Island is a case in point. Bought from the Indians for beads, the problem is now ours.

Its poverty and wealth, its shame and glory, its tragedy and gaiety—all are the buyer's responsibility. So we possess this great city—with no one to take its problems off our hands.

If we had it to do over, wouldn't we build our cities with more respect for spiritual values . . . more concern for each other . . . more attention to the blueprints of the Architect of life?

That's what usually happens to man. He tries his own way first.

On Manhattan Island, as in every village and city, churches have their doors open to searching souls. Now that we've tried our own way and lived with the results . . . isn't it time to try His?

Yoemen String Bows For Belton Tigers

Plenty of poison arrows will be needed by the Cameron Yoemen this Friday night to hinder the strong charging Tigers of Belton.

The battle between Belton with a 3-0-0 district record and a 9-0-0 season record will undoubtably be the Yoemen's toughest opponent faced. If successful, the Yoemen could throw the zone into a three way tie, but if they are not Belton will capture the zone title.

Among the Yoe arrows will be fullback George Whiteside who has rushed for a season total of 963 yards. Last week against Georgetown, Whiteside carried 13 times for 100 yards, but couldn't manage to round up the 37 yards needed for a thousand yard season. The thousand yard barrier is quite an achievement, and one can be sure that Whiteside plans on reaching a thousand plus against Belton.

However, Whiteside is only a segment of the Yoe offensive team. The remaining backfield consists of Jeff Smitherman, Gene Kopriva, Jafus White, Lorenzo Majors and Willie Bell. All have shown outstanding play throughout the season.

Paving the way for the backs will be the Yoe offensive line. The line consists of: Mike Mueck, Ricky Sapp, Jim Deloney, Joe Smitherman, Ronnie Bennett, Brian Cobb, and split-end Mike White.

Meanwhile, the Belton Tigers will be slinging a few offensive arrows of their own. Mark Brooks will be the man-under, Joe Lindeman, David Murray and Grant Critchfield will all see action. Critchfield has picked up 112 yards against Gatesville and 78 yards against Copperas Cove.

Perhaps, even a greater aspect of the Tiger team is their "Big Red" defense. In nine games, the Tigers have only had 21 points scored against them. Key names in the defense are: Bryan Hargrove, James Norman and Harold Davis.

On the other hand, Cameron will counter with their defense who have pounced on fumbles, made key interceptions and stood tall on tight situations all season. The Yoemen will start Gary Hornung and Ricky Williams at ends, Mike Mueck and Jim Deloney at guards, Ronnie Bennett, Paul Vaculin, Ernie de la Rosa and Bruce Zarosky at line backers, and Craig Friemel, Jafus White and either Willie Bell or Lorenzo Majors in the secondary.

The Yoemen are now in preperation for the game with Belton. Head coach Ed Cauley said, "Belton is good as they are suppose to be. Their defense is strong and aggresive and it will take almost a perfect game to beat them."

In other action the JV and Freshmen will meet Belton Thursday night at Yoe Field. Game times will be 6 and 7:30 p.m.

Parks & Wildlife To Offer Safe Boating Course

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will soon offer a free, voluntary safe boating course to Texas boaters.

"The Texas Skipper's Course" is a 104 page home study program, with review and summary questions included at the end of each chapter to keep the reader up-to-date. And end of-course open book examination will be graded by the department. Boating safety officials say situation problems are utilized throughout the course, so the reader can apply what he has just read to solving the problems created in the situations.

"We feel that there is something for every boater in 'The Texas Skipper's Course,'' said Joel Block, water safety education coordinator for the department. "It's easy to slip into bad boating habits, and this course will help the boater slip right back out of them."

Block explained that this course will allow the boater to pace himself, spending as much time as he requires in grasping a problem.

Why offer the Skipper's Course? According to Black, "Recreational boating has never been more popular and, with so many boaters, there must be some form of instruction. We hope that this voluntary program will be highly utilized by boaters throughout Texas."

Those who successfully complete this instructional program will receive a safe boater registration card and a permanent record of their achievement will be maintained by the department in Austin.

"The Texas Skipper's Course" is scheduled to be introduced Jan. 1, 1974.

As the curtain falls...

The final curtain of the District 12-AAA football scene will fall this Friday night. The results will determine which teams will be around for the curtain call.

In the South Zone, Rockdale is sure to be seen as the curtain re-opens for the District play-offs. Rockdale captured the South Zone title last Friday night by defeating the Taylor Ducks in a tough and exciting battle at Tiger Field. The Tigers will meet Gatesville in a non-district clash this Friday night. Rockdale has compiled a 4-0-0 district record, scoring 91 points and holding opponents to only 18 points.

In other South Zone action, Taylor and Lockhart will meet to determine the second place team. At the same time, Georgetown and Del Valle will be battling to secure their first district victory.

However, things are more complicated and interesting in the North Zone of District 12-AAA. The Cameron Yoemen will launch all efforts to upset the explosive and highly-ranked Belton Tigers. A Yoe victory would throw the zone into a three way tie, but a Tiger victory would hand Belton the North Zone ttle, plus a shot at Rockdale for District 12-AAA honors.

There have already been rumors that Rockdale is preparing for a battle with Belton on November 19, but Cameron rumors state that this should be termed premature thinking. The Yoemen are riding high after a victory over Georgetown and Rockdale, and are out to get a Tiger. Remember Rosebud-Lott and their high state ratings, and remember the Yoe victory. Yes, the Yoemen are potentially capable of performing great upsets.

The question of whether or not the Yoemen can raise an upset can only be answered this Friday night when the two teams clash.

In other North Zone action, Copperas Cove and Lampasas will battle for their first district victory, and Rockdale will travel to Gatesville.

Sports - Murray-Go-Round

By Tom Murray

What is all the talk in Houston that Bill Yeoman's U. of Houston Cougar football team is vastly superior to Darrell Royal's University of Texas Longhorns?

Could be. But true to usual myopic reasoning, the Houston Sports Media is wont to prove Cougar eminence through the questionable use of comparative scores.

To be precise, one compartive set of scores: Texas' 20-15 opening upset loss to Miami and Houston's later 30-7 victory over the same team.

Houston Athletic Director Harry Fouke spurred on the Cougar Houston Media Mouthpieces by pointing out the difference in UT's Miami outcome and that of UH. In fact, Mr. Fouke claimed superiority over Oklahoma because Houston's winning Miami score was 20 points greater than the Sooners were able to hang on the Hurricane.

Get the implication?

Texas had just been deflated, 52-13, by an Oklahoma team over which the Houston Athletic Boss was now claiming a 20-point "comparative score" edge.

But, old Harry forgot two little things: First, Auburn is not - even in an off-year - your everyday push-over.

And, Miami was not to be the only common Texas - University of Houston foe. Could he, and the Big H Medias really forget Hometown Rice?

Well, unranked Auburn embarrassed 'em with a 7-0 victory over the Cougars and Texas REALLY confused their Comparative Score Braggadacio, popping Rice 55-13. Since Houston beat the Owls, 24-9, doesn't this make Texas 20 points better than Houston?

Of course it does not.

Nor, does Miami ... Oh, well.

Record Ladyfish Landed In Bay

For a long time Texas has had no record for a fish variously known as the ladyfish, skipjack or horse mackerel because the minimum acceptable record set by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department was three pounds.

A Georgetown man, John Thomas Parker III, finally met the qualifications with a 3 lb. 6 1/4 oz. ladyfish he caught in Espiritu Santa Bay near Port O'Conner.

The fish was 25 inches long and had a 10-inch girth. Parker caught it with an artificial lure.

MDR, RDA or U.S. RDA?

What do these letters stand for; why should they be important to us? Because we're concerned about our family's nutrition.

We're aware of the Basic Four Food Groups, and certainly we know the importance of adequate amounts of protein in the diet. We know about vitamins, and minerals, and that certain amounts of these should be in our diet.

MDR, RDA and U.S. RDA all tell us about the necessary amounts of the various nutrients which we should eat for good health. MDR, Minimum Daily Requirement, is a standard set in 1941 by the FDA as the minimum amount of specific nutrients deemed necessary to avoid dietary deficiencies. RDA, Recommended Daily Allowance, was established to succeed the MDR in 1963 and revised in 1968 by the Food and Nutritional Board of the National Academy of Sciences' National Research Council as the guide to the specific amount of specific nutrients considered adequate for good health. Generally, these amounts are more than the amounts of the MDR. U.S. RDA, United States Recommended Daily Allowance, was adapted from the RDA by the Federal Food and Drug Administration to be used in the nutritional labeling program. It sets the standard amounts for specific vitamins, minerals and protein now considered essential for good nutrition.

Familiarity with these terms and their meanings, especially the U.S. RDA, will be helpful in reading and understanding the new labels which contain nutritional information beginning to appear on many products and in selecting a balanced, nutritious diet for your family.

For a free copy of the new U.S. RDA allowances, please send me your name and address.
